Old Cheney, 70th Street & Holmes Lake Trails

This month, we're featuring a collection of trails in southeast Lincoln that link together to create a variety of route options. The Old Cheney Trail connects multiple major trails across the city, the 70th Street Trail offers a north-south connector, and the Holmes Lake Trail provides a scenic loop that's perfect for fall mornings.

Trail Instructions:

Old Cheney Trail – 5.73 Miles

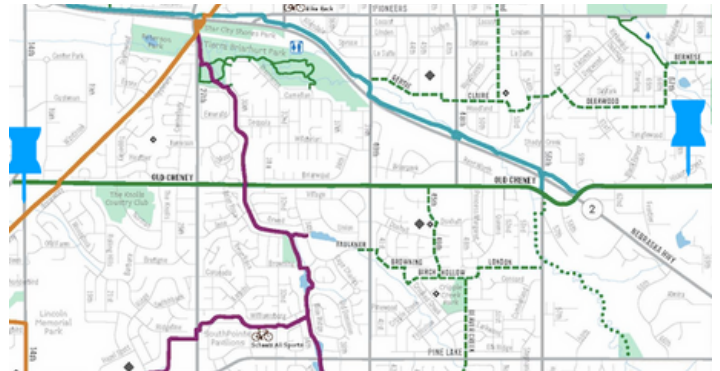

The Old Cheney Trail runs along the north side of Old Cheney Road and links six other trails: Jamaica North, Rock Island, Tierra-Williamsburg, Boosalis, 70th Street, and 84th Street.

- Start Options:

- Park at Christ Place Church (14th & Old Cheney) and walk west to the intersection with the Jamaica North Trail.
- Or, start on the east end by parking near the gas station at 84th & Old Cheney.

- Highlights:

- The official trail sign is located at the Rock Island Trail intersection, just west of 14th Street.
- On the west end, the trail connects into the Jamaica North Trail, and on the east end, it ties into the 84th Street Trail.

November - 10.37 Miles Old Cheney, 70th Street & Holmes Lake Trails

Holmes Lake Trail – 2.32 Miles

The Holmes Lake Trail is a scenic loop that circles the lake, making it one of Lincoln's most popular recreation spots.

- Start Options: Park anywhere around the lake and begin your loop in either direction.
- Highlights:
 - The trail offers open lake views, rolling green space, and plenty of spots to pause and take in the scenery.
 - Great for walkers, runners, or anyone looking for a shorter, relaxed route.
