Report from Doug Dittman
Doug Dittman from the Hub Cafe described his vision for an outdoor seating area south of the Jane Snyder Trails Center. Doug shared a plan of the proposed area, about 1690 square feet, surrounded by a railing and some sliding gates. Doug envisioned about using the area to host about 12 events per year, possibly also for wedding receptions, etc. This seating area would be in connection with the JSTC and would have to be reserved through Parks and Recreation. The Hub is able to offer $5000 toward construction although there is yet no total estimate for the cost. The proposed time table is to complete the project this year. Doug requested a letter of support from GPTN for the project.

Ray Stevens moved that GPTN support the concept of the seating area. Karen Griffin seconded. Discussion followed of possible events that would be held in the area. Discussion also covered pros and cons of the proposal. The vote by show of hands was 22 in favor, 2 against, with a couple of abstentions.

Mike Heyl sent notice that speaker Mark Fenton, an active living and exercise motivational speaker, and an advocate for bike and pedestrian friendly cities, will be in Lincoln for Workwell events. He is available for a speaking engagement on May 3. Mark Heyl needs $500, possibly with other organizations, to sponsor a speaking slot during the day. The time slot is a weekday, workday morning. There was no enthusiasm from the Board for the event.

98th & A Street Update - Dena received a plan via email from Sara Hartzell saying the MoPac Trail will stay as it currently is, since a financial backer of the development backed out. Plans show the current going all the way to 98th with one additional crossing. Public hearing still has to take place. The trail will now not have to be paved.
